

GOVERNMENT LOANS ON SURPLUS CORN GROWN THIS YEAR

FIFTY-SEVEN CENTS BUSHEL
RATE AGREED UPON
FOR 1939 LOANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today the government would make loans to farmers on surplus 1939-grown corn at the base rate of 57 cents a bushel.

Eligible for loans at this rate will be farmers in the mid-western commercial corn belt who did not plant in excess of this year's agricultural adjustment administration corn acreage allotments.

The rate is the same as that provided in a similar loan program last year.

The commercial area, comprising 586 major corn-producing counties in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and South Dakota.

Elsewhere loans will be made at 75 per cent of the base rate, or 43 cents a bushel, to farmers who did not plant in excess of their AAA soil-depleting acreage allotments.

The principal purpose of the loan program, officials said, was to bolster prices of the feed grain by helping farmers keep uneeded portions of this year's big crop off the market.

Between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels of the 1939 crop of 2,591,000,000 bushels may be stored under loan.

About 253,000,000 bushels of 1937 and 1938 corn are now stored under previous loan programs.

The loans will be available from December 1 this year to March 31, 1940, and will be due August 1, 1940.

The loans will bear 3 per cent interest. Under previous programs the rate was 4 per cent. Farmers may obtain loans through their local banks. The latter institutions may discount such loans with the federal commodity credit corporation.

Three Injured In Automobile Crash West of Corsicana

Stephen Reele, 53, oil operator of Dallas, received a fractured shoulder and other injuries about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning when the car in which he was riding turned over 12 miles west of Corsicana. He was rushed to the P. and S. hospital where he received treatment. Frank Reele, 54, brother of Stephen Reele, also of Dallas, sustained abrasions, and other minor hurts, while Rev. Richard Romaine, Hubbard, a passenger, received a slight head injury.

Frank Reele was the driver of the 1937 Plymouth automobile. He said that the accident occurred as he started to pass a truck on the highway, and as he drew alongside of the truck, the driver apparently did not see him approaching, and started to pass a vehicle ahead. This forced the Reeles car onto the soft shoulder, and it turned over, it was stated.

The Reeles are drilling an oil test in the Dawson sector and were en route to Dawson at the time of the accident. The Rev. Mr. Romaine was picked up by the men near the city limits here, they said.

The elder Reele resides at 6220 Oram and the younger Reele lives at 3712 Vandellin, Dallas.

The automobile was demolished.

GARNER CAMPAIGN OPENED WEDNESDAY AMONG OKLAHOMANS

ADA, Okla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Forces backing Vice President Garner for the Democratic presidential nomination opened their campaign in Oklahoma today with a barbecue and rally at the Pontotoc county fair grounds.

Crowds estimated at 700 or more moved down stacks of barbecued beef and the trimmings about noon and settled back to hear E. B. Germany, national chairman of the Garner movement, make the principal address.

Other speakers were to be heard including Oklahoma supporters of "Cactus Jack."

Garner adherents broke out flags in the Ada business district and the day was proclaimed one in honor of the vice president.

Observers speculated on the plan of campaign. In some quarters it was expected the Garner forces in Oklahoma would work for an unopposed delegation friendly to their man, rather than attempting to have it pledged to him at least until President Roosevelt's attitude toward a third term is made known.

Meanwhile, at Oklahoma City, Bruno Miller, attorney, called a meeting of admirers of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan to discuss organization of a club to support Vandenberg as a Republican presidential prospect.

Kerens Community Chest Drive Meets With Good Response

KERENS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—L. Murphy, chairman of the Kerens Community Chest drive, reports that during the first week, seventy-five per cent of the entire amount subscribed last year, has been pledged. Members of the committee soliciting residents of the community for the campaign are: E. H. Gray, W. H. Ivey, L. H. Carroll and Mr. Murphy.

The Kerens community chest takes care of emergency cases of need in this section and is the only agency here handling such. Hundreds of persons were aided last year from the funds. The committee supervises the spending of several hundred dollars received from the Kerens fund.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to take this method to express our thanks to the many friends who were so kind to us during the illness and death of our husband, father, brother and son, Edgar Tackett. We especially thank Rev. Mr. Goff for his kind and consoling words. We also wish to thank the state highway maintenance department for their nice floral offering.

Mrs. Edgar Tackett, children, brothers, sister and father.

What is BLOOD Pressure?

Broadly speaking, "blood pressure" is the pressure exerted on the walls of the arteries by the blood in its passage to and from the heart. The heart is a valiant little machine, but it would have a job entirely too heavy, unless the blood vessels exerted their muscular and elastic tissue in the propulsion of the blood, to help the heart keep up circulation.

In the maintenance of blood pressure, several factors are concerned: The force and frequency of heart action, the elasticity of the vessel walls, the consistency of the blood itself and the total amount of blood in the body.

As a rule, high blood pressure is caused by intensity of living and long continued emotional disturbances, such as fear, worry, chronic tobacco or alcohol poisoning, and, as Celler says, "the habit of working hard, playing hard, drinking hard, smoking hard, and eventually having hard arteries." High blood pressure has been called "Americanitis" because of the relation to physical and mental strain.

You should not have an obsession about your "blood pressure," neither should you neglect it. High pressure is an effort by the body to overcome a diseased condition. Have your doctor locate the trouble and correct it as far as possible by health habits to fit your special needs.

"If there is anything wrong to worry about in your blood pressure after forty, it is probably because you neglected it before forty."

OFFICERS ELECTED FIRST FALL MEETING OF SAFETY COUNCIL

J. N. GARITTY NAMED PRESIDENT; BEAUFORD JESTER IS SPEAKER

Numerous phases of the responsibility of citizens in promoting traffic safety were presented by Beauford H. Jester, Corsicana, attorney, at the first fall meeting of the Navarro County Safety Council at the City Hall Tuesday night, attended by the most representative group in the history of the organization.

J. N. Garitty was elected president of the council for the ensuing year with four vice-presidents representing the various geographic units of the county and including E. P. Walker of Kerens, re-elected; Arnold Armstrong of Frost, H. C. Hervey of Rice, and N. J. Middlebrooks of Richland. Charlton Gunter was re-elected secretary. Mr. Garitty succeeds Fred D. Prince who served during the first year of the council.

At the Tuesday meeting, Kerens was represented by Mr. Walker who is also community safety director, and by representatives from the parent-teacher associations; E. D. McCormick, several citizens, and some of the members of the high school safety patrol; Blooming Grove presented Miller Reid, member of the town council, Superintendent of school C. C. Isbell, and others; Rice was represented by County Commissioner C. M. Fitzgerald and members of the parent-teacher organizations.

Corsicana Delegation Included in the Corsicana delegation were representatives from the Robert E. Lee and David Crockett faculties and parent-teacher groups, the high school faculty, the Young Men's Business and Professional Association, the American Red Cross, and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and CCC camp.

Opening the meeting Vice-chairman Walker enumerated the fatalities charged against Navarro county for the current year, showing a total of eight with one doubtful compared to a total of twenty for the corresponding period of last year, a gain of about 65 per cent, compared with a state average of improvement of about four per cent.

The chairman also reported total deaths in the state to the first of November were 1,008 compared with 1,148 for 1938, and urged that every effort be made to continue the good work in Navarro county in order to offset last year's black mark with a record this year of being one of the safest counties in Texas.

Citizens Co-operative He credited most of the success of the campaign this year to the co-operative attitude of virtually every citizen in the county and the educational efforts through the newspapers, schools, and parent-teacher groups. He also called attention to the distinctive success of School Safety Week with a statewide record of no injuries or fatalities in the school age during the period due to traffic.

At this point a nominating committee composed of Mayor E. D. McCormick of Frost, George W. Kuykendall of Corsicana, C. M. Fitzgerald of Rice, and Julius Jacobs of Corsicana was appointed by the chairman and retired for their deliberations.

Under the head of safety suggestions, Miss Helen Bonner called attention to dangerous dips in the Fourth Avenue in the vicinity of the junior high school in Corsicana; it was also reported that school zone safety signs had been erected near the Travis school and on Highway 75 at the point at which Crockett school students cross that thoroughfare.

Traffic Problems Representatives of Lee school in Corsicana called attention to a serious traffic problem, and J. N. Garitty, county Red Cross chairman, asserted that protective signs were available for the dangerous places and the only requirement was the signs be cared for and placed at the needed spots at the proper time. Those needing such signs were invited to contact Mr. Garitty or either of the two highway patrolmen.

Chairman Walker also announced that Department of Public Safety educational pictures would be available for showing in Navarro county in the near future. At this time the report of the nominating committee was presented and unanimously adopted and the nominees declared elected.

In an inaugural address, President Garitty declared that the splendid safety record of the county for this year was due mainly to the educational program undertaken through the safety council and co-operating agencies. He also asserted that Navarro county had two of the best highway patrolmen in the state, but their value was not due to the number of arrests they had made but their consistent efforts in safety training and in continuing co-operation from the general citizenry in safety measures. He then presented Mr. Jester as the speaker of the evening.

Jester To Speaker Speaking on the topic of "What Citizens Can Do For Safety," Mr. Jester declared that everything was possible for this group in a broad sense, but that a summary might be made to include general knowledge and use of the traffic rules and law of the road, and use of "are both as drivers and pedestrians."

The speaker stated it was not an easy matter to master the traffic rules and the laws of the road, or to remember and always use the proper driving signal, but that each operator of a motor vehicle was guilty of negligence when he failed to properly indicate to others in his vicinity what his next move was to be. He then detailed a number of provisions of the "law of the road" pertaining to speed, passing of vehicles, use of warning signals and other items.

He declared every person should learn to drive properly and to include in his education the ability to determine whether or not his car was in proper condition to operate in an emergency; he then insisted after a driver knew his car was safe, he should keep it so by proper driving tactics and moderate speeds. He also pointed out that many "freak" accidents were easily explainable although often embarrassing to some of the parties involved, citing instances of such occurrences.

Mr. Jester then enumerated a number of law violations involved in litigation following fatal accidents in Navarro and an adjoining county. Included in the violations submitted to the jury were passing a car on a hill, driving on wrong side of the road, excessive speed, passing a car with vision ahead impaired, falling to give proper signals, and others.

Mr. Jester declared that in such litigation patrolmen who could prevent such accident through the co-operation of an alert citizenry were worth much more than attorneys for the latter could only secure monetary remuneration for lost lives.

Summing up his points for citizens, the speaker asserted the drivers should know the rules and regulations, should provide themselves with a safe vehicle, then use that vehicle properly, take care to avoid accidents even though not at fault. He urged that habitually reckless and careless drivers be warned both by citizens and officers. He asserted that the proper attitude toward safety was contagious and that when a study was once started, improved driving and consequently better traffic conditions would result.

President Garitty took occasion to praise the work of the teachers in the schools for their work in behalf of safety, admitting that many times children could influence better habits in adults.

The problem of juvenile bicycle riders was brought up for discussion and it was reported a bicycle club and patrol would be installed at Robert E. Lee school in Corsicana soon, and other schools in the county were expected to adopt similar measures.

Mayor McCormick of Frost complimented the council on its work, stating that his community had not had a traffic death yet but were anxious to co-operate before a tragedy.

Patrolman Hammett Vance announced a primary first aid class would be started at the city hall in Corsicana on Thursday night at 7:30. It was pointed out almost a hundred persons had received the instruction and passed the primary course during the year and one group had completed the advanced course. It was also announced that a Red Cross instructor was expected in the next few months to give a course which would enable Navarro county residents to become first aid instructors.

N. Suttie Roberts, president of the State National Bank, declared that he was vitally interested in traffic safety, realizing that death and injuries on the highways was one of the greatest problems confronting the entire nation.

Charles Banister, criminal district attorney, promised to co-operate in every possible way with the safety work. Vice-chairman Walker also paid tribute to the co-operative efforts of law enforcement officers of the entire county and their work to prevent accident and fatalities. At the conclusion of the meeting several pictures were made of the group by R. A. Margenthaler, identification expert of the Corsicana police department, and the council adjourned to meet on call of the president.

Two Bucks Killed By Local Hunter

Jack Thompson, city attorney, was exhibiting Tuesday morning a fine nine point buck killed near Marble Falls where a number of Corsicana residents have been on a deer hunt for the past several days. Mr. Thompson also killed another buck which will be brought to Corsicana later.

Excellent hunting is reported by Mr. Thompson and the members of the party are having an enjoyable outing.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Marquette University seismograph recorded a light earth shock shortly before 9:30 a. m. today.

Father Joseph Carroll, head of the University physics department, said it was a "mere tremor" and expressed the opinion it was caused by the fall of huge rocks in caverns deep in the earth. It occurred southwest of Wisconsin, he added.

Americans Feast in London

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph E. Kennedy, addressing "fellow exiles" at the annual Thanksgiving meeting of the American Society, said today:

"The war we all dreaded has come. All we can do is face the future with fortitude, with faith and with thankfulness for the blessings we still enjoy."

Added Reason Be Thankful

NORTH CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The 130 passengers on the northbound Winnebago Limited of the North Western railroad which was wrecked here had an added reason to be thankful today. All escaped injury in the accident which cost the life of Engineer Harry M. Anderson late yesterday.

Little To Be Thankful For

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Jeff Jacobs, a butcher, sold a lot of turkeys to the Thanksgiving trade, but he didn't feel much like eating one himself today.

This was because two young robbers kidnaped him last night, forced him to drive to a lonely mountain road on Twin Peaks, and took $1,000, the receipts for his shop for two days before Thanksgiving.

Even Early Thanksgiving Too Late

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(AP)—For weeks Anthony Palazzo, 81, and his wife, Josephine, 78, had looked forward to a Thanksgiving visit with their daughter and son-in-law.

The son-in-law, Eugene Conte, came from his home in Waterford, N. J., yesterday to get them. He found the old couple dead. A pot of coffee had boiled over, quenching the gas flame on the kitchen stove.

Under the door of the Palazzo's house was a relief check—and a gas bill.

other inmates had "a little something extra" for dinner today, although Idaho does not celebrate Thanksgiving until next week.

Because the two were being held for Uncle Sam the argument came up that they should be allowed to eat Thanksgiving dinner on the date set by President Roosevelt.

Rather than be charged with favoritism, Sheriff Don Hendrick decided to serve special dinner today and again Nov. 30, the day proclaimed by Governor C. A. Bottolles as Idaho Thanksgiving.

Meanwhile statehouse routine was a bit upset. Offices headed by democrats were closed but Republicans came to work as usual. Federal offices closed, downtown business houses were open for business.

Prisoner Refuses Release

DALLAS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Prisoners held on minor charges were ordered released from the county jail today for Thanksgiving, but one fellow much preferred to stay. "With all this food around," he explained to a liberating jailer, "I don't think I want to leave right now. I won't have anything outside—but in here I can get a good Thanksgiving meal. How about me staying around a while?"

The jailer's smiling consent permitted him to join a turkey-with-trimmings feast.

No Beans After All

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Children at the St. James Orphanage won't have to eat beans for their Thanksgiving dinner next Thursday after all.

That was the prospect after thieves raided the orphanage poultry coops and stole 25 turkeys and more than 100 chickens intended for the children's Thanksgiving and Christmas Day dinner.

Today's Monsignor Michael Boland disclosed scores of persons who read newspaper accounts of the situation, had offered to furnish birds for the dinner.

Sadler Has Comment

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(AP)—This warmish November 23 found Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler at work, Thanksgiving or no Thanksgiving. And he had a reason:

"Back in Hickory Grove where I was raised we never celebrated Thanksgiving unless the weather was fit to kill a pig."

the German announcement at this time, apparently it still was unknown to the English secret service wireless station. Both English operators, Inman and Walsh, even acknowledged the final message.

The Gestapo had asserted that the British agents operated from a headquarters at the Hague, Netherlands capital, but the location of the wireless station was not specified in the new disclosure.

According to the Gestapo the two British agents were arrested Nov. 9 when they attempted to enter Germany from the Netherlands at Venloo.

(The British foreign office has denied that any British agent knew of any German "described as having placed a bomb in the Munich cellar" and called the arrest of two British subjects at Venloo a kidnapping.)

SENSIBLE OPTIMISM

If the opposite of a business "recession" is a "pro-cession," this must be one. People carefully refrain from calling it a "boom," or even an "incipient boom."

"I think business is going to be fair," is the moderate statement of Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator. "I hope we don't have a boom, and I don't see any indication of one." He is not worrying about prophecies of a business relapse, but persists in moderation of speech and procedure. And this is the attitude of business men generally. They are even more conservative than the economists. They are not bearish. They are optimistic, but refuse to toss their hats in the air and do not lose their heads over war orders.

This is a new phenomenon, and a good omen. It represents a sort of optimistic realism. The mood acts as a rational control of production at a time when it would be easy for business to run wild, with overproduction and kiting of prices.

BEAUTIFIED ROADS.

Anyone who has driven much about the United States in recent years must have noticed the steady progress being made in roadside beautification. There are more artistic plantings along new routes and old.

California has a Roadside Council which has successfully sponsored state legislation regulating billboards in scenic regions. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Vermont, Connecticut and other states have accomplished much, not only in curbing offensive signs but in landscaping railroad stations, improving local parks and setting out trees and shrubs around open plazas. Garden clubs everywhere have been particularly active in pushing such work.

The American Automobile Association now proposes a model uniform highway bill for adoption in all states to protect roads from the intrusion of unnecessary objects. Motorists have a double interest in such measures, for the obstruction which makes a highway ugly and spoils a lovely scene may also obscure the driver's view ahead or distract his attention and so become a menace to safety.

If the movement continues as it has begun, American roads which, when new, often were ugly gashes across the landscape, will become as lovely as they are already useful.

BIG BUSINESS

At the "monopoly committee" hearing in Washington, a big steel man testified the other day that ten large, integrated companies would be better than 100 small companies for the iron and steel industry. Asked why, he replied: "Because they can produce better goods at a lower cost and pay higher wages. I don't see how you would go back to small units and expect to keep the benefits we have now."

It sounds logical; and yet there are other considerations which men of different viewpoints take into account. The great "integrated" companies may be able to produce more efficiently and sell more cheaply and pay better wages than small companies would. But do they?

THANKSGIVING

Dear Lord above accept our prayers
Of gratitude for gifts divine;
For strength to meet our daily cares,
For fruit of field and tree and vine.
But most especially today
For all the blessings peace bestows,
The songs, the mirth, the laughter gay,
Our free and happy nation knows.

Lord God of hosts again we pause,
From all the tasks which fill the year
To thank Thee that no bitter cause
Of hatred now divides us here.
In safety all our children play,
Unfettered our mothers wait
And at the ending of the day
Pass round the steaming dinner plate.

Lord God of all to Thee once more
Our grateful hearts and heads are bowed
Guard us forever we implore
From growing arrogant and proud
And prosper in the nobler way
Which bids all ancient hatreds cease
And let us every night and day
Cherish the dream of lasting peace.

WEATHER EFFECTS

The poet Milton wrote of a place where "hot, cold, moist and dry, four champions fierce, together rush and by confusion stand." That might be a fair description of the weather in some parts of our country.

Anyway, the "four champions" are important. Dr. W. A. Sommerfeld writes about them in a recent number of Hygeia. They produce various effects according to their combinations.

Thus, cold, moist air is chilling and penetrating, and supplies favorable conditions for catching pneumonia and "flu."

Cold, dry air, on the other hand, is invigorating. Warm, moist air is likely to produce joint diseases. Warm, dry air increases circulation.

Two other weather factors very important are air motion and pressure. A breeze, whether natural or artificial, makes air more tolerable. High air pressure, measured by the barometer, is usually stimulating.

The most comfortable temperature for human beings, says Dr. Sommerfeld, is 72 degrees, but the best for mental activity is 68. Thus it seems that people's minds work best when they're a little uncomfortable, on the chilly side. Excessive temperatures, as everybody knows, tends to make people "dopey."

THE WICKED DEMOCRACIES

The world may know where the responsibility lies for the European war. It is revealed in an "order of the day" issued by Defense Commissar Voroshiloff in Moscow. The aggressors are Britain and France!

The reasons given for this conclusion are not very clear to minds untrained in the Moscow ideology. So far as our dull western minds can get a glimmer of light, it is something like this. The democratic powers are the guilty parties because they wanted the autocracies to start hostilities and grab other nations' territory, so that the democracies would then have an excuse to fight back.

That's too subtle for simple-minded Americans.

And is there as much industrial and social stability when an industry is monopolized by a few great companies instead of being divided among many small companies? And are there the social and human values in big industry that there are in little industry? Is democracy encouraged and maintained as well in the one way as in the other?

Card of Thanks
As it is impossible for us to see each and every one who assisted us at the death of our dear son and brother, Claude Stubbfield, we wish to thank each one who assisted us in any way. We also want to thank the ladies who prepared the nice dinner and for the beautiful floral offerings.
We hope when these dark hours of grief come to you that you might have just such friends to comfort you.
God bless you are the prayers of
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stubbfield, Allie Pearl Stubbfield and

CHANNEL TYPE OF TERRACES DECLARED TO BE MUCH BETTER

The following article concerning terracing of farms was compiled by officials of the local CCC camp, which is engaged in soil conservation work in this area:

A number of farmers in Navarro county, who are co-operating with the soil conservation service camp at Corsicana, are building channel type terraces from the upper side only. Terraces built from the upper side are much better than the ridge type terraces built from both sides Joe Baker stated today. Mr. Baker owns and operates a 204-acre farm, 10 miles west of Corsicana.

Mr. Baker said that the most desirable feature of this type terrace is the low velocity surface drainage and that the relatively wide, flat water channel and not the height of the ridge was the most important factor. The terrace spreads out in the channel and flows much slower, which reduces erosion in the channel.

Mr. Baker pointed out that the channel of this terrace is constructed with gentle side slopes and the excavated earth is used to bring the lower side of the channel to a sufficient height to provide necessary water carrying capacity. The ridge which is considered the main feature of the terrace should blend into the natural ground below, so as to make cultivation with ordinary farm machinery much easier than where there is a steep slope on the back side of the terrace.

Another good feature of the channel type terrace is the absence of the ditch below the terrace which water will follow for a short distance, break over and make a gully between terraces, stated Mr. Baker. The finished terrace has a better appearance and the cost is approximately 10 per cent less, using county equipment.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

By VERONICA DENGEL

FROM THE MAIL BAG.

E. V. writes: Although I wash my face every morning and night with a well-advertised brand of soap, there appears under the skin, around and on my forehead and chin, "white bumps." Could you please tell me the cause of these bumps, if any, for this skin condition.

Are you sure, Veronica Dengel, you are rinsing all the soap off the face? Several changes of water are necessary, gradually finishing off to very cold. This stimulates the circulation and brings a glow to the skin. When the blood is brought up strongly in the face, it carries off more waste matter and brings fresh nourishment to the skin, thus renewing and beautifying the complexion. Another possible reason for these bumps may be that you are including too many fatty foods in your diet. How about it? If so the thing to do is use less cream—plain or whipped—less butter and dressings, and many more green vegetables in salads and fresh fruits. How about the candy situation? If you are eating more candy than you should have, you are causing derangement because these bumps may soon develop into pimples which are harder to correct. Avoid this condition by correcting the cause right now.

N. L. G. writes: Please send me your twelve-day diet. I have tried to make up my own diet, but have not progressed very far with it. I have been taking—before my meals, and would like to know if you recommend it for me. I am 24 years old, five feet, two inches tall, and weigh 140 pounds.

Trying to make up your own diet is not always advisable. A good diet must include all the food factors—proteins, starches, sugars, fats, vitamins, minerals, in their correct ratio and combinations. A diet that would be completely lacking in protein would cause the body to become flabby and lacking in tone because the protein foods contain nitrogen, which is the element needed for the building of tissues. A diet entirely free of starches, sugars and fats for any long period would be reducing, but—it would also cause the individual to be very low in energy, and to feel the cold much more than usual. A diet might be very low in calories but it might also be lacking in minerals, which are the building stones of the body. The calcium, phosphorus, iodine, potassium, sodium, magnesium, sulphur and other mineral contents of the body must be supplied from food sources—and the sources of these minerals are found largely in the vegetables and fruits. So, unless you understand food chemistry, don't try to work out your own diet. There are too many good, standard, planned outlines for you to take a chance on your own ideas. The product you mention is not at all reducing. Because it is sweet, it partially satisfies your appetite, so that you may not eat as much as usual. But it is not wise to start the meal with a sweet tasting food. I am sending you the twelve-day reducing diet, together with a chart showing your correct weight and measurements for your height and age.

SURVEY OF MILK SUPPLY CORSICANA AREA BEING MADE

Members of the dairy committee of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce assisted by several other citizens of Navarro county initiated an extensive survey of the available milk supply on all weather roads in the vicinity of Corsicana Wednesday.

Only a portion of the teams completed their work for the day and the remainder are expected to make their reports by the end of the week.

The survey is to secure figures for compilation on the amount of whole milk or cream available for sale the number of dairy cattle, and other facts needed to outline a comprehensive long range program of development in this field of agriculture.

Corbet Club

Knife killing improves the quality of the bird, Mrs. W. N. Sloane, poultry demonstrator, told a group of Corbet home demonstration club women Tuesday afternoon in her demonstration of killing and dressing poultry in the home of Mrs. Melvin Rogers, Nov. 24.

Hang chicken by legs in hanging shackle made from a coat hanger. Catch head in left hand and pull toward you stretching neck, with a sharp knife make one quick cut severing the jugular vein, let chicken bleed thoroughly. Semi-scald: Do not have temperature over 130 F. Have sufficient water to submerge chicken completely, raise up and down in the water until feathers of legs come out when touched lightly. Take to table, pull out wing with left hand, catch top of wing and with one clean hard stroke remove all feathers on wing. Turn and repeat for other wing. Turn tail-feathers, twist and pull out and off. Gather a handful of the back feathers, pull down and out. With these feathers in the hand carry remainder of the body removing the feathers. As most of the feathers are off put chicken in a tub of water and rub off remaining feathers.

Mrs. Sloane continued the demonstration by drawing the bird. Place on the table, remove feet with one cut. Remove head by cutting and with a sharp quick break and twist, slash skin at back of neck, loosen skin from neck, letting it fall over breast, loosen crop and remove. Cut and break neck with quick twist. Make slash 1 inch above vent, remove vent, draw bird, saving heart, liver, and gizzard. Remove lungs. Remove oil bag. Wash chicken. Place neck and giblets inside, put legs in place in slash and place where vent was removed. Pull skin back over neck to the back and lock wings over it so as to hold in place. The hostess, Mrs. Melvin Rogers, assisted by her mother Mrs. John Crawford served cheese sandwiches, cookies and lemonade to 18 members and 1 visitor, Miss Pauline Tucker.

Our next meeting will be Dec. 21, at which time we will have the Christmas tree. Each member is urged to be present, bring her gift and draw names for the ensuing year. —REPORTER.

Odd Scoring Was Seen In Six-Man Game at Emhouse

EMHOUSE, Nov. 23.—(Spl.)—One of football's oddities which might have its place in Robert Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" column, occurred in the six-man football game between Emhouse and Malone on the Emhouse gridiron recently.

The Emhouse team scored two touchdowns in the first minutes of the game without having put the ball in play from scrimmage. Emhouse kicked off to Malone and when the Malone boys failed to negotiate a first down the ball was punned. Leon Stough, safety man for Emhouse, received the punt and with some good down field blocking ran through the Malone team to cross the goal line. Emhouse again kicked off to Malone and again Malone was forced to punt from deep in their own territory. Elkins of Emhouse broke through to block the punt and Drain, an Emhouse end, recovered the ball behind the goal line for the second touchdown.

The remainder of the game was a nip-and-tuck offensive battle in which Emhouse finally emerged the victor by a score of 27 to 24.

On next Friday, November 24, Emhouse will have as its visiting team the powerful team from Streetman.

Oriental View of Admission Price to Paradise—The Master Who Came "Not to Be Ministered Unto, But to Minister"—Glimpses of Galilee.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In Persia, I once heard a tale from a missionary friend, who was a storehouse of Oriental lore, which expresses the genius of the present lesson.

A man died, and presented himself at the Celestial gates. Gabriel met him with the statement that he could be admitted only if he brought with him the most precious thing on earth.

Returning to mortal life, the man pondered long on values, and decided that a priceless pearl, representing the greatest of riches, would meet the conditions. But Gabriel disallowed it, reminding the suppliant for entrance that such jewels were but building stones in the Celestial City, the streets of which were paved with gold. So plainly, wealth was not the admission fee to bliss.

Back on earth, the man again pondered long and concluded that power was the most precious thing. So he sought widely, until he had found the sword of Alexander the Great. With this symbol, he again approached the gates; only to be told that the Almighty laughed at the puny power of man.

"Wisdom must be the treasure," mused the man and he searched the earth until he had found the Lost Books of Solomon. With these in hand, he again presented himself before Gabriel only to be told that the wisdom of man is foolishness with God.

Four times rebuffed, the discouraged mortal ranged the earth in vain, seeking some hidden treasure. At last he gave up, and decided to report his failure to the Angel.

On his way to the Celestial palace, he saw a sick man by the roadside, emaciated and covered with sores. Deeply moved, he tarried to minister to the unfortunate and still weeping over the poor man's plight, he presented himself again to Gabriel. Before he could tell his tale of failure, Gabriel rushed to him, crying, "You have found it, the most precious thing in the world!"

Bewildered the man looked at his empty hands; but the Angel touched his cheek, saying, "The tears of compassion! The most precious thing on earth! Enter into Paradise."

The Compassionate Christ

One word above all others characterizes Christ—compassion. Again and again "He was moved with compassion." He shed tears of compassion over the capital of His Nation. His whole public ministry was spent largely in works of compassion. His cross is the supreme symbol of compassion. So often was His work that of healing, that He has been called a medical practitioner. The cure of Peter's mother-in-law was but a typical instance.

Wherever Jesus went, He found human need. The missionary physicians who have followed in His footsteps have been real representatives of Him. Only one who knows His Orient, can fully appreciate how great is the need for medical ministrations. The throngs of sufferers, whom I have seen waiting at doctors' doors all over the East, are reminders of the crowds who sought healing at Christ's hands.

The Call of China

In this our day, with incredibly tragic appeals to our compassion coming from China and Palestine and Poland and Spain, we wonder if Christ in Heaven does not sorrow in sympathy with man's suffering. Surely, every Christian should send some sacrificial offering, "In His Name," to these whom their Master pities. All the great denominations have united in a church committee, the China Relief, with offices at 105 East Twenty-second Street, New York City. They seek a million dollars, that they may save at least a hundred thousand lives, between now and June. A dollar keeps a child alive for a year.

A Sky-Scraper Sermon

More persons—many millions more—have been healed by the extensions of the Master's spirit than He ever cured by His personal touch. We commonly overlook the fact that the great hospitals which dot civilization are but expressions of the spirit of the healing Christ. A few days ago, I had luncheon in the physicians' dining room on the twenty-eighth floor of the magnificent New York Hospital, a building with beds for a thousand patients, and the latest conveniences and comforts for the sick and for the staff. No oriental monarch dwells in a more imposing palace than this house of healing, erected and maintained by the gifts of men and women who partake of Christ's spirit of compassion. The hospital is a skyscraper sermon.

Jesus had nothing, yet He gave everything. Vitality poured from Him, as He shared His innermost resources of life with the needy. He was the comrade of all the poor, who today minister to their needy neighbors with what they have. Homeless, Jesus was the refuge of seekers. Hungry, He was the giver of the multiplied loaves. His retreats, for communion, with the Father, were in the desert, the neediest crowds; yet He was never impatient with them. His compassion stood all tests.

When Storms Arise

There seems a contrast, though it is only seeming, between the personal, self-sending ministry of the Compassionate Christ and His occasional exercise of His Divine authority. Our Lesson tells not only of the healing of a beloved member of Fishermen's humble home, but also of the stilling of the tempest on the Lake of Galilee.

Any one who has dwelt long by the shores of Galilee's lake is familiar with the sudden storms which arise over this usually placid water. I have seen the lake lashed with fury, with white-caps like those we know on the ocean. Such a storm arose one day when the weary Healer was asleep in a fishing boat. The hardy fishermen were affrighted, and feared drowning. How helpless the strongest of us in the grip of natural forces! "Save, Lord; we perish!" cried the frightened crew. And Jesus stilled the storm with a word.

When storms arise, in our personal lives or in society, as at present, we turn, like the Galilean boatmen, to the Source of authority. The truth of God's control of all forces is the tap-root of all religion. Situations are ever arising wherein He, and only He, can save us. To be aware of the power of God, and to be in submissive fellowship with it, is to draw the sting of life.

DIRECTOR OF TAX DEPARTMENT E-TEX CHAMBER SPEAKER

"TAX CONTROL" SUBJECT OF ADDRESS BY CURTIS MORRIS HERE TUESDAY

"Tax Control" was the subject of Curtis Morris, director of the Tax department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, before a combined meeting of the Lions, Rotary and Civitan clubs, Chamber of Commerce, county and city officials and business representatives Tuesday noon.

Numerous suggestions for intelligent interest on the part of business men into the affairs of local government in a mutual spirit of helpfulness were put forth while, according to the speaker, would tend to make the administration of governmental agencies more effective and helpful.

In the beginning of his remarks, Morris said some experts had estimated the governmental taxes and costs amount to one-third of the national income. He said he was not contending that too much is being paid for governmental functions, but advised business men and tax payers to see that they are getting value received.

Figures Quoted.

Quoting figures to show increased costs of government Morris said the U. S. debt in 1913 was $1,000,000,000 and now the interest alone on the national debt was that figure; that the legal limit for the national debt is set by law at $45,000,000,000 but predicted the next congress would raise that limit after pointing out that the federal war debt is spending at the rate of nine billion dollars annually.

"Texas is spending about 180 millions of dollars this year," he asserted, "twice as much as ten years ago."

After recounting the huge national and state expenditures, Morris said that counties, cities, schools and other governmental departments spend considerable more of the tax money than do the state and national governments.

He estimated that 87 per cent of the tax collected for ad valorem levies are spent locally. There are 125 million dollars collected in Texas in ad valorem payments annually. The speaker asserted the schools were the greatest spenders of tax money, with the counties second, cities third, and then levee and other improvement subdivisions.

Tax Control.

"Tax control is of the greatest importance to us at the court-house, city hall and in the school districts," Morris continued, and then pointed out how a decided interest in county and other local governments by citizens and business men would make them more efficient and keep the taxes from being made higher.

He asserted that there could be no real tax control until the citizens and officials approached the matter in a mutual and friendly basis to work out local problems for the best interests of all concerned.

Directing his remarks to the Navarro county government, which he termed was making an honest effort to do a good job, Morris first suggested a county unit of road and bridge expenditures, work, machinery, etc., instead of each of the four commissioners making his purchases, supervising with the Lord there is mercy, and with Him His plenteous redemption.—Psalm 130:7.

Thy fate is the common fate of all, Into each life some rain must fall, So needs must be dark and dreary. —Longfellow.

The many prove the wisdom of Hesiod, who says that the road to wickedness is smooth and very short, and there is no need of perishing; but where the road to the immortal gods have placed the sweat of labor, and long and steep is the way thither, and rugged at first; but when you have reached the top, then, however difficult, it becomes easy.—Plato.

road and bridge construction, and other duties. He suggested that it would be economical for an engineer to have charge of the road work, have one purchasing agent for the county and a central warehouse in which to store supplies and machinery. He said a county-wide road working unit would require less road machinery than under the present set-up, and gasoline and other supplies could be more cheaply purchased on a county-wide basis.

Stresses Budget.

A strict budget control system was also stressed by Morris, who said the present county judge and court was trying to live up to the budget.

Morris suggested that monthly budget statements, showing the standing expenditures and features of each account be distributed to other county officials and department heads and then be printed in the newspapers. A consistent delinquent tax collection campaign was another feature of the address. Morris gave the results in other counties in support of his suggestions for Navarro county governmental changes.

In concluding his talk, Morris again stressed the necessity of a mutual and intelligent effort by officials and citizens to improve the conditions, and predicted that if public sentiment and interest straightened out problems in county, city and other departments, enough sentiment would be seen to take care of the question in Washington and Austin.

Speedy Adams, president of the Lions, presided. The invocation was given by Rev. C. Duke Payne, R. W. Knight, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the program, and the speaker was presented by F. H. Harvey, director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. A number of announcements were made.
